To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing this letter highly recommending Henry Del Cid and the Buddy Study Hall program. I have known Henry for over ten years when I first hired him as an ensemble member and facilitator with Imagination Theater. Imagination Theater uses theater techniques to educate students on social and emotional issues and well-being. We not only seek out talented performers, but also educators who have the ability to teach kids ages 5-18. Henry brought those unique talents to our company.

During his time with Imagination Theater, Henry performed in participatory performances with students of all ages. He facilitated as well as acted in these performances. It was clear from the start that Henry had an ability to reach both younger and older students at their level. Henry facilitated and performed in programs that tackled issues like conflict resolution, substance abuse prevention, diversity and inclusion, and sexual harm prevention.

In addition, Henry designed curriculum and taught a group of students with both developmental and behavioral issues in a multi-week residency program. The program focused on healthy communication, cooperation, and problem solving. Students became an ensemble over the course of the class and gained valuable life skills.

Henry brings a passion with him to everything he does. He is an extremely hard worker and students look up to him as a role model. I know that Henry, through his Buddy Study Hall program, will provide high quality education that will leave an impact on his students.

Sincerely,

Stephen Leaver
